DIET AND DISPOSITION.
The Food We Eat Has a Direct In- fluence Upon Our Manners.
To say that food has a direct influence upon disposition is to utter a commonplace dietetic truism now accepted and acknowledged by every one who has even a rudimentary knowledge of physiology. If one is inclined to doubt this let him experiment upon the lower animals. Feed a pair of baby lions from the time they are born until they are as large as a fox terrier dog on nothing but bread and milk, and you will have a couple of docile, gentle and loving pets as playful and harmless as kittens. Take a pair of St. Bernard puppies, the gentlest of all the canine family, and as soon as their teeth come begin feeding them raw meat, and you will soon have a couple of snappish, snarling, quarrelsome dogs, inclined to fight each other and ready to pick a fight with every dog in the street. If the meat diet is persisted in they will become a menace to a whole neighborhood.
Is it any wonder, then, that some men and women are snappish, snarling and quarrelsome? We give much less attention to what we feed the human animal than we do to what we feed the lower animals. What does the growing, garrulous, grumpy old scold, who makes life a burden to his family, eat anyway? On what does the nagging woman feed? Why not look into these matters?—Pittsburg Chronicle.
Flour and Teeth.
A valuable letter from a correspondent drew attention to an important and admitted cause of the national degeneration of physique which we have striven to emphasize in these columns.
The roller mill has undoubtedly diminished the dietetic value of our bread. The entire wheat grain is of value—the husk (which is a valuable intestinal stimulant), the brown exterior and the white central core. Except for certain invalids white bread is an indefensible absurdity. Better brown bread, consisting of all but the husk, and best is a whole meal bread, assuming such to be obtainable. The deficiency of salts in white bread is unquestionably related to the deterioration—also familiar to our readers—in the national teeth. We may illustrate this by an argument from Sir Thomas Lauder Brunton. "Why has America the cleverest dentists?" Answer: "Because she has the best flour mill makers." The better the mill is, the finer the flour, the poorer the bread, the worse the teeth and the better the dentists. Perfectly simple!—London Chronicle.

How the Forgetmenot Was Named.
Everybody knows the pretty forgetmenot and likes the flower more perhaps because of its name than its beauty. How was it so called? The Germans account for it by quite a pathetic romance. It seems that once upon a time a knight and a lady were walking by the bank of the Danube when the latter asked her "gallant gay" to pluck for her a tiny blue flower which she saw growing in the stream.
No sooner said than done, but the knight, overbalancing, fell into the river, and owing to the slippery nature of the bank and the weight of his own armor was carried away by the current.
As he threw the flowers ashore to his lady he cried out with his last breath, "Vergiss mein nicht!" ("Forget me not!") And ever since the flower has been looked on as the emblem of fidelity.
A Long Felt Want.
Dr. James had an odd liking for ingenious desk accessories in the way of pencil sharpeners, paperweights, pen-holders, etc. The latest contrivances in this fashion—probably dropped down to him by the inventor angling for a nibble of commendation—were always making one another's acquaintance on his study table. He once said to me:
"I'm waiting for somebody to invent a mucilage brush that you can't by any chance put into your inkstand. It would save me frequent moments of humiliation."—Thomas Bailey Aldrich in Century.

A WESLEY INCIDENT.
First Methodist Lay Preacher Fol- lowed in a Year by Twenty.
The societies met on Sundays, but never at the hour of church service, and, when neither Wesley nor any other clergyman was present, spent the hour in prayer and religious conversation or exhortation. From exhortation before the society to formal preaching before it was only a step, but to Wesley it seemed a very long step.
While in Bristol he learned, one day in 1739, that one of his converts, Thomas Maxfield, had been preaching before the Foundry society. He hurried up to London to stop it. But his mother, who since the death of her husband had been living in a room of the Foundry building, met him with a protest, "John, take care what you do with reference to that young man, for he is as surely called to preach as you are." Admonished by this counsel from one whose caution on all churchly matters he knew to be quite equal to his own, Wesley reluctantly consented to hear Maxfield preach.
After listening, he exclaimed: "It is the Lord's doing. Let him do as seemeth to him good." Convinced in spite of deep rooted disinclination, he sanctioned the first Methodist lay preacher.
Within a year there were twenty.—C.
F. Winchester in Century.
Professional Trust.
To any who regard the whole legal profession with suspicion I can only answer: "You are probably right in saying that if a lawyer had played the vulture he would not tell of it, yet in truth those evil birds of prey are not the majority in the law. If they were more than a small minority our profession could not sustain the almost boundless confidence it enjoys from the whole business world. Remember, a lawyer is judged day by day, and by his deeds he is justified or condemned.
If a significant number of us were traitors to our clients or if by our hypocrisy we undermined the body of professional ethics, the keen and undeserved men of this generation would not be placing in lawyers' hands every day their most momentous interests and trusting implicitly in the honesty of their advice. Suppose we do have our little professional attitudes and poses and pomposities; those are but superficial mannerisms which may make us awkward and tedious when we, too, would write a popular article, but which have nothing under heaven to do with our faithfulness to our clients. On that faithfulness we meet our judgment day six times a week."—

SOFT CORE
Like the running brook, the red blood that flows through the veins has to come from somewhere.
The springs of red blood are found in the soft core of the bones called the marrow and some say red blood also comes from the spleen. Healthy bone marrow and healthy spleen are full of fat.
Scott's Emulsion makes new blood by feeding the bone marrow and the spleen with the richest of all fats, the pure cod liver oil.
For pale school girls and invalids and for all whose blood is thin and pale, Scott's Emulsion is a pleasant and rich blood food. It not only feeds the blood-making organs but gives them strength to do their proper work.

HANGMAN'S PAY.
The Way an Oriental Executioner Helps to Fill His Purse.
In the east a hangman's trade is very profitable. As soon as a person is condemned to be hanged notice is sent to the executioner, who has the privilege of erecting the scaffold wherever he pleases, and at sunrise the next morning he begins his work. Accompanied by his assistants, who guard the condemned man and carry material for the scaffold, he goes to some prominent place in front of a large dwelling and there proceeds to erect the scaffold.
A few minutes later the owner of the large dwelling rushes out and implores him to go somewhere else.
"I don't want to have a man hanged in front of my house," he explains.
"All right," says the hangman. "I'm willing to go elsewhere provided you pay me for my trouble in coming here and for the time which I have spent at the job."
Though the sum which he names is pretty large, the owner of the large dwelling pays it without a word, whereupon the hangman goes to another large dwelling, where a similar scene is enacted.
In this way several hours are spent by the executioner in extorting money from all the magnates in the neighborhood. When his purse is at last well filled he erects the scaffold in some dark wood, and soon the unfortunate man, who has been tramping after him all day, is at rest.—New York Herald.
The Kind of Ear That is Rare.
The ear that Darwin illustrates in his "Descent of Man" as being allied to the pointed type belonging to our sinular relatives is not as uncommon as many may imagine. It is my observation that this peculiarity of the fold in question is often to be observed in women, and in many of these cases the persistence of the wisdom teeth is also a characteristic. I have in mind two cases of this sort, one of a man, the other of a woman, both residents of one of our leading cities and among their social and intellectual forces.
The latter is a remarkable reversion to an earlier type in ear, in teeth, in length of arm, in painless childbirth, in flexibility of hand joints and in other marked characteristics. It appears to me that the ear, like the ver-ruform appendix, the suspension of the bladder and the unprotected condition of certain main arteries, is adapted in a transitional state and not adapted to the newer human conditions imposed by the erect position and the artificialities of civilization.—Science.

A Mortified Wife.
The Rev. John Mathews, who was a pioneer Methodist preacher of Alabama, has been remembered for his strict views and many peculiarities, according to Lippincott's. His wife, who was more liberal in her ideas, was fond of dress and once bought a bureau and with the money bought a new hat. The following Sunday Brother Mathews, being disturbed at the beginning of his discourse by several of the congregation turning to see the late arrivals, said: "Brethren and sisters, don't bother to look around any more; I'll tell you who comes in." This he did, calling each one by name, much to the mortification of the tardy members.
His wife was among the last, and when she walked down the aisle he said: "Make way there for Sister Mathews. She is coming with a bureau on her head."

Philadelphia's First Book.
The first book of any kind published in Philadelphia was Atkin's Almanack for the year 1686. It was an unpag-ed pamphlet of ten leaves, only two copies of which are now known to be in existence. The first copy of the Almanack printed was sent to Colonel Markham, Penn's deputy, who reported to the council that the book had erroneously declared Pennsylvania to have been founded by "Lord Penn." The council disapproved such a high sounding title and directed the author and printer (William Bradford) to "forthwith and effectually blot out ye words 'Lord Penn.'" This had the effect of recalling the whole edition and the abolition of the obnoxious words.
Throwing the Slipper at a Wedding.
The throwing of the slipper after the bride comes apparently from barbarous times, when the relations of man and wife were really very much akin to those of master and slave, for it seems that the shoe was an emblem of authority, and at an Anglo-Saxon marriage a shoe was given by the bride's father to her husband in token of transference of power over her, the groom usually indicating his appreciation of that fact by tapping his new wife lightly on the head with it.
Coral From Italy.
Much of the costly red, white and pink coral used for ornamental purposes is obtained from the coast of Italy. Men go out in boats and drag the rocky bottom of streams with wooden frames or nets, in which the coral branches are entangled, but the delicate branches are crushed in this way.
The finest coral is obtained by diving.
One View of Dialect.
Dialect tempered with slang is an admirable medium of communication between persons who have nothing to say and persons who would not care for anything properly said.—Thomas Balley Aldrich in Century.

ZERO AN ANCIENT TERM.
It Was in Use in Babylon Thirty-six Centuries Ago.
The term zero, which is used to designate a cipher and in meteorology the entire absence of heat in the atmosphere, was, according to a mathematical historian, Moritz Cantor, used by the Babylonians about the year 1700 B. C.
This, however, is merely a supposition.
It has not been definitely established that zero was in use any earlier than 400 A. D. About this time it was used in India, and several centuries later the Arabs began to employ it. Through the Arabs its use became known to Europeans during the twelfth century. It was not generally adopted in Europe until several centuries later, notwithstanding its great advantages. For a considerable time there were two parties among the European educators. One party, known as the algorists, favored the adoption of the Hindoo system of notation (falsely called Arabic), with its position values, while the other, known as the abacists, favored the Roman notation, without zero or position value.
The general adoption of the Hindoo system was greatly facilitated by the facts that it was explained in most of the calendars for more than a century, beginning with 1300, and that the medieval universities frequently offered courses devoted to the use of this notation.—Chicago Tribune.
An American Waterloo.
Wellington at Waterloo and Meade at Gettysburg each held the highlands against his antagonist. Wellington on Mont Saint Jean and Meade on Cemetery Ridge held the birdseye view of the forces of attack. The English batteries on the plateau and the Union batteries on Cemetery Heights commanded alike the intervening undulations across which the charging columns must advance. Behind Mont Saint Jean, to conceal Wellington's movements from Napoleon's eyes, were the woodlands of Solmes. Behind Cemetery Ridge, to conceal Meade's movements from the field glasses of Lee, was a sharp declivity, a protecting and helpful depression. As the French under Napoleon at Waterloo, so the Confederates under Lee at Gettysburg held the weaker position. In both cases the assailants sought to expel their opponents from the stronger lines. I might add another resemblance in the results which followed. Waterloo decreed the destiny of France, of England, of Europe. Gettysburg, not so directly or immediately, but practically, decided the fate of the Confederacy.
General John B. Gordon in Scribner's.

Ladies Who Wore Knives.
In early English days knives were worn by Englishwomen in imitation of the anelace, a dagger carried at the girdle. Chaucer speaks of them in the prologue to his "Canterbury Tales":
"His knives were y-chaped not with brass, But all with silver wrought, full clean and well."
In Ross church, Herefordshire, is a monument to a lady of the Ruddle family, temp. Henry VIII., who wears a purse and a knife. Brand tells us that knives were formerly part of the counterparts of a bride. In a play, temp. "Edward III.," occurs the passage:
Here by my side do hang my wedding knives.
In the "Archæologia" Mr. Douce, the antiquary, wrote a paper on this practice of wearing knives by European ladies in the sixteenth century, and an engraving shows a specimen of a case of these wedding knives, dated 1610, which are described as having amber handles and cases of purple velvet embrodered with gold.
Some Pygmy Animals.
A species of dwarf elephant used to live on the island of Malta and in various parts of Italy. Judging from the bones which remain, these animals, about the size of a large sheep, were somewhat numerous. A dwarf elephant is a rarity now and no longer forms a distinct species, but is considered rather a freak.
A very beautiful species of pygmy deer is found on the Sunda islands.
These little creatures are not much larger than a cat, but have all the points of a "well bred" deer.
Among horses Shetland ponies are the pygmies. The ordinary musk of central Africa is a pygmy, or dwarf, being only about twenty inches in height at the shoulder and three feet in length.

Making Sure of Him.
"I think," said the thoughtful mother, "that you ought to object to young Brown paying so much attention to our daughter."
"Why?" demanded the thoughtless father. "He impresses me very favorably."
"That's just it," returned the thoughtful mother. "We must do something to make his ambitious mother think we regard ourselves a little above them socially if we are to make sure of him."
A Hint to Go.
"I have something to tell you before I go," he finally said.
"Is it a long story?" she hastily asked.
"No; it is a very short one."
"Then I think you will just have time," she sweetly said.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Beecher's Application.
One Saturday afternoon two Brooklyn men were on their way over Fulton ferry to the City of Churches. Mr.
Beecher happened to be on board. As the ferryboat felt its way into the slip Mr. Beecher seemed to be looking on abstractedly. As the boat struck the piling at the side, which creakingly yielded, Mr. Beecher's face lighted up.
One of the men, who knew Mr. Beecher's method of sermonizing, remarked to the other: "There will be something about that in tomorrow's sermon. Let us go and see." The men were in Plymouth church the following morning as suggested. Sure enough, in the course of the sermon Mr. Beecher made some reference to this: "There are in every community men who perform for society the service that yonder piling does in the ferry slip—when they are struck they gracefully yield, yet are not quite swept from their position.
They stand for principle, but they tact-fully yield in nonessentials. Those buffer souls are valuable members of society."
His Second Stomach.
Snugglers' brains are proverbially fertile, and a clever expedient was once adopted to import brandy into Paris without paying the octroi duties, says the Golden Penny. For several weeks a splendid elephant and his keeper belonging to a circus had constantly gone in and out of one of the Paris gates, when one day a custom house officer suddenly thrust his probe into the creature's side. The spectators were horrified, but the elephant did not appear to feel any pain, while from the wound fell four tiny barrels of brandy.
The keeper, considering that a little extra size in the unwieldy shape of his change would not be noticed, had increased its stomach in the old skin of a larger elephant and had filled out the space with brandy—a very profitable enterprise.
A Desperate Man.
It was in a restaurant, after the young wife looked anxiously at her husband as he devoured a double portion of lobster salad.
"I wish you wouldn't eat that, dear," she urged. "You know it never agrees with you, especially at night."
"It doesn't, but I don't care," he said as he tackled a huge mouthful. "It's my turn to take care of the baby tonight, anyhow."—New York Press.
A Fair Warning.
Mrs. Bawne—Don't you think the new neighbor is cute? She has such a coaxing little way about her.
Mrs. Greene—Well, she'll get herself into trouble if she tries her coaxing little way on either of my hired girls.
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
Where Friendship Ceases.
"That girl with Johnson there—a friend of his, I presume?"
"Nope; used to be, though."
"So? Had a falling out?"
"Not exactly. He married her."—Baltimore American.
Much better results can be obtained by paying a woman a compliment than by trying to argue with her.—Boston Globe.
His Bad Memory.
"I suppose," said the condoling neighbor, "that you will erect a handsome monument to your husband's memory?"
"To his memory!" echoes the tearful widow. "Why, poor John hadn't any."
I was sorting over some of the clothes he left today and found the pockets full of letters I had given him to mail."

Mrs. Della Gorman Jones returned from Blue lakes Monday evening. She has been with her husband, who is employed on the works of the Standard Electric Company now in progress at the lakes. On account of the increasing coldness of the weather, she concluded to come out of the mountains before the breaking up of the camps in that region. The works will be completed for winter next month.

The case of A. Piccardo vs. Fayette Mack involving the right of way over the land of defendant for the hauling of timbers and material from the mountains, was amicably settled out of court last Monday. The parties got together, and wisely concluded to settle their difference if possible, without the expense of a trial in court. We understand that Piccardo paid Mack $100, and took a deed granting a right of way over the land in question.

J. H. Thrasher and S. E. Williams have leased a piece of land from H. W. Jones below town for dumping purposes. They collected from some of the citizens the sum of about $20 toward paying the rental for one year, the contributors having the privilege of using the dump. It is not a public dumping place however. The lessees have control, and only they and those who secure permission from them will be allowed to deposit rubbish there. They have secured the lease so as to settle the dumping question as far as they are concerned. They can now use their teams in hauling away rubbish, knowing at the same time where they can deposit their load without fear of molestation.

The bright little girl of Mr. and Mrs. John Lawless, of Kennedy Flat, died in San Francisco last week under exceptionally sad circumstances. The mother was called to the city to attend the wedding of a niece. She took her youngest child, Grace, with her. They left home the 30th of August, the child appearing in perfect health at that time. In a day or two after reaching the city, the child was taken sick, and grew worse rapidly, dying on the 8th instant. The remains were brought to Jackson, and the funeral took place on Saturday last; services being held in the Catholic church, and the body laid to rest in the cemetery of that denomination. A large procession of mourners in vehicles and on foot testified to the universal sympathy extended to the parents in their great bereavement.

Wm. Gilbert, Thursday afternoon of last week, attempted to drive under the private bridge of W. P. Peck across the south fork of Jackson creek, with a load of baled hay. On top of the hay a crowbar projected, and this bar came in contact with the bridge, causing the entire structure to collapse. In the rear of the wagon a pair of horses were tied, and portions of the falling timbers struck them without doing serious harm. The footbridge is a great convenience to those living on Peck's addition, and could not very well be dispensed with. The load of hay was en route to Kent's barn. A subscription list was started, and the necessary funds raised to have the bridge rebuilt. The work was commenced Monday morning, under the charge of C. E. Peters.

Revised Naturalization Oath.

The county clerks' office has just received a new record book containing the revised oath required of all applicants for naturalization. Under the law passed by the last congress, every person applying for admission to citizenship is required to swear that he is not a person who disbelieves in or who is opposed to all organized government; that he is not a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining or teaching disbelief in or opposition to all organized government; that he does not advocate or teach the duty, necessity or propriety of the unlawful assault or killing of an officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the government of the United States, or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character; and that he has not violated any of the provisions of the act of congress approved March 3, 1903, entitled an act to regulate the immigration of aliens into the United States.

Hung Jury.

The case of J. Schell, charged with shooting a cow belonging to Mrs. Andrews, was tried before Justice Goldner last Monday, before a jury. The evidence went to prove that the defendant had been considerably annoyed by the Andrews cattle trespassing upon his mining claim in the mountains, near the summer range of the Andrews stock. He had complained about the annoyance several times, by the stock trampling his mining ditch. On the 22d of July a cow was shot in the hind quarters, breaking the left leg. It was found by one of the stockmen in a help-less condition, and shot by Andrews four days afterward to put it out of misery. Defendant did not deny shooting the animal, but claimed that he had to do it to protect his property. The shooting was established by three witnesses to whom he admitted the act, and whose evidence was uncontradicted. His land was fenced, and he had no means to fence it. He had asked Andrews to assist him in fencing it, but he declined to do so. The defendant is 68 years old, and has lived on this land where the shooting occurred for 30 years. He had been married for a short time, taking three ballots, the last standing 11 to 1 in favor of acquittal. It was found impossible to agree, so the jury was discharged. The accused is out on his own recognizance. Whether the case will be called again for trial is uncertain.

No Fish for Tableau Lake.

The officers of the local fish and game protection association recently wrote to the Standard Electric Company for permission to stock Tableau reservoir with black bass; this species of fish being selected as the most suitable under the circumstances. Early this week an answer was received from Frank Pierce, the president, stating that the advice of the engineers of the company was against the proposition, and the project could not be entertained at present. The precise ground for declining the proposition was not stated. Whether it was feared the fish might get into the pipe and interfere with the flow of water, or whether the tramping of anglers on the banks of the reservoir might be a source of risk of breakage, is not known. The project of fishing in Tableau reservoir has gone a glimmering for the present. As a change of management has taken place in the company, it may be that the matter will be brought up again in the near future.

Thought He Would Take a Ride.

As the delivery team of Joyce & McKenize stood outside the dwelling of Mrs. Barnes, just beyond Pine Grove, Tuesday last, the near-old grandson named Walker climbed on to the seat, and the team started off in a leisurely gallop with no one on board save the child. The disappearance of the team was not noticed until the wagon was out of sight, and when it was discovered that the child was not to be found about the premises, there was something of a commotion. Parties were dispatched in every direction. Finally the team was overtaken half a mile or more east of the dwelling on the traveled road, with the child holding down the seat, as unconcerned as you please, and apparently enjoying his lonely adventure to the full. The lines had got tangled round the horses' feet somewhat, causing the animals to move around in a circle at the point where they were brought to a standstill. They were found by W. W. Stewart of Pine Grove.

Change of Base.

Frank Pierce, the genial president of the Standard Electric Company for the past two years, has resigned that responsible position, and has been succeeded by a gentleman named Green. The principal place of business of the company has been changed from San Francisco to San Jose; the outlet for the power furnished by the company being found in a great measure at San Jose. We understand Mr. Pierce, the retiring president, is about to make a trip to Europe.

Furniture Sold.

The furniture of the Globe hotel, belonging to the bankrupt estate of E. Anderson, late proprietor, was sold last Saturday, under foreclosure proceedings instituted by P. Dwyer. T. K. Norman, as sheriff, auctioned off the property. There was but one bidder, and the entire property was sold for $1396.75. This sum is $37.80 less than sufficient to pay off the mortgage. The lot was sold to P. Dwyer, the mortgagee.

To Levy Taxes.

The board of supervisors will meet next Monday for the purpose of making the tax levy for the current year. It is inevitable that an unusually high rate will be fixed. The state tax is 18 cents in excess of last year's rate. Even the increase of nearly $300,000 in assessment roll will not suffice to ward off a boost in the tax rate, unless the levy for road purposes is lowered. And there is no getting round the proposition that it is high time the special road fund was materially reduced.

In Calaveras the county auditor, upon the rendition of the opinion of Judge McSorley on the salary case, has issued his warrant for the payment of the salary under the new law. The county treasurer, however, refused to pay the warrant until bonds had been given him to indemnify him and his bondsman against loss in case the decision is reversed by the supreme court.

Probate of Will Denied.

The last will and testament of William Maloney, the late Catholic pastor of Sutter Creek, was denied probate in the superior court last Monday. The matter is of sufficient importance to demand a full elucidation, to the end that such snags in legal construction which resulted in the nullification of this attempt at will-making may be avoided. The deceased was a man of scholarly attainments, not only as regards his ministerial profession, but well read generally. In January, 1903, he wrote a document which purported to be a testamentary disposition of his estate. In this instrument his estate is valued at over $6000, consisting of $4000 cash in the Hibernia Bank of San Francisco, which was bequeathed to his brother John in Ireland, and $2000 in Realty Syndicate securities. The will was intended to be of the olographic character—that is a will entirely in the handwriting of the testator, including the date line and signature. Such a will the law says need not be witnessed. This is the only kind of a will wherein the necessity of witnesses is dispensed with. There is no question that the Maloney will was authentic. No question could be raised on the score of the soundness of mind of the testator. The will, however, was written on a sheet of letter paper, such as the priest was in the habit of using in his church correspondence. On the left hand corner was printed the name of the church and the pastor. And on the date line appeared the words printed in script type, "Sutter Creek, Amador Co., Cal." The appearance of this printed matter in the date line proved the rock of offense, and caused the rejection of the document. Because of these words, it was held that the will did not come within the meaning of an olographic will as defined by the code, which says, "An olographic will is one that is entirely written, dated and signed by the hand of the testator himself." The courts have heretofore made a similar ruling, but this is the first instance of the kind that has occurred in this county. The estate will now have to be probated and distributed as though no attempt at will-making had been made.

Off for Mexico.

Henry Allan, the photographer who has occupied the Kay gallery for about a year, expects to leave on the 19th instant for old Mexico, where he has secured a lucrative and responsible position at a gold mine. The mine is located in the state of Chihuahua, one of the northern states of our sister republic, at a place called Chinapapas, distant about 100 miles from the capital of the state. His brother John has charge of the mill, and he goes under engagement as mill foreman, at a salary of $5 per day, with board and lodging at $15 per month. This being a more tempting offer than the photographic field in Jackson at present, he has decided to accept it, and leaves for his destination tomorrow. He has had considerable experience in the milling business. The Ledger wishes that every success may attend him in his new field.

Home Again.

B. F. Taylor and wife, and son Walter, returned home Sunday evening, after an absence of over three months in a tour of the United States. They had an enjoyable trip, visiting nearly all of the Northern States, including their native states, Ohio and Maine. They saw the famous Niagara falls, and the immense electric plants for the transmission of power by the utilization of energy developed by the falling water. Their home-coming was hastened by the sad death of a relative, John Palmer, son of Wales Palmer, in San Francisco, while they were spending the day in that city. While thoroughly enjoying their travels, they are glad to get back to their home in Jackson.

Sudden Death.

Mrs. Anna Paulina, a native of St. George, Azores islands, died suddenly Monday morning at the breakfast table at the residence of Frank Costa, near town. The passing of this estimable lady was a great surprise to her friends as she was in the enjoyment of excellent health. Funeral services were held in the Catholic church Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Gleason officiating. Burialment in the church cemetery. Deceased was born in February, 1819, and came to Ione from her native land 21 years ago, living here continuously. She leaves no surviving relatives in Oregon, and a brother, Frank Frates, of this city, superintendent of the I. C. and I. Co., to mourn her loss.—Ione Echo.

A Chapter of Accidents.

Under the care of Dr. Endicott, all of the above mentioned unfortunates are doing nicely.

Gilbert Voorheis, son of F. A. Voorheis of the National hotel, started for the east Wednesday, with the intention of entering the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Mrs. Voorheis accompanied him to San Francisco, where his father would also meet him and see him started on his long journey.

W. D. Curtis, representing the Pioneer Flour Mills of Sacramento, was in Amador county this week, in the interest of that popular brand of flour. The trade of this company throughout Amador county is rapidly increasing. It is recognized as "the article," and those working in its behalf know how to push it to the front.

The county health officer reports that one case of measles at Amador City was released from quarantine during last month; also one case of scarlet fever at Jackson, and two cases of the same disease at Sutter Creek. On the 1st of the month there was not a case of contagious disease within the boundaries of Amador county.

The New York Mutual Life Insurance Company has settled the policy of L. J. Fontenrose, paying him the sum of $2309. On account of some technical oversight, the matter has been in dispute for over two years. Suit was started to settle the matter, but was never pressed to a verdict, the parties finally settling it out of court by the payment of the above sum.

MORE MANDAMUS.

The Constable of Township 4 Takes a Whack at Litigation for Salary.

On Tuesday a mandamus suit was commenced in behalf of T. S. Tuttle, constable of township 4, against C. L. Culbert as county auditor, to compel the auditor to issue a warrant for $60 per month as salary, provided by the act passed by the last legislature. The complaint alleges that the petitioner was appointed to the office of constable June 8, 1903. The case is identical with the suit already pending in which Jas. McCauley, as justice of the peace in township two, is petitioner, and which suit is being pressed to the supreme court for final settlement. There is one point of difference between the petitions. McCauley was elected to the office, while Tuttle was appointed constable after the salary law of 1903 was passed. Whether the attorney for the petitioner, W. J. McGee, expects to make a point by this we do not know.

There is one clause in the Tuttle petition that raises the question of compensation. While he sues for salary at $60 per month, and could have fees earned under the old law if he were so disposed, the petition says:

"That under the statute and law which was in force at the passage of said act of the said legislature of March 18, 1903, allowing the constable of said township No. 4 fees for services rendered in criminal action instead of a salary, provided by act of March 18, 1903, petitioner earned as such fees from 1st day of Aug., 1903, to the 1st day of Sept., 1903, the sum of $158."

It seems strange that an officer who earns $158 under a law which the auditor is willing to recognize, should be applying to the court for pay under a law which cuts his compensation nearly two-thirds. Ordinarily officials are not anxious to get in line when reduction of pay is the program. But Amador township officers, if this statement is to be taken as correct, are tumbling over themselves, and putting all sorts of schemes in operation to be lined up under the salary bill of 1903.

We may here state, however, that the month's pay of $158 must be for something more than fees in criminal cases. A careful scrutiny of the bills for the month named has been made, and the sum earned as fees amounts to something under $40. A constable under the salary bill is allowed mileage in addition to salary. There is no getting round the fact that the salary bill which is the bone of contention at present, means an increase of nearly $5000 per year in the expenses of the county, as compared with the old law. That is the vital matter in dispute. To raise that sum means an extra tax of 10 cents on the $100. This salary grab represents a boost of nearly 8 per cent in the running expenses of Amador county. A few more such bills, if carried into effect, would cripple every enterprise in the county.

Died in San Francisco.

At the visit of the grand army to San Francisco, Mrs. Wales Palmer, accompanied by her son John, went to the city on a visit. A few days after their arrival the son was taken sick, the ailment being of such a character to call for medical attention. The doctor first consulted seemed to treat the matter lightly. The mother, however, as days passed by without improvement, began to suspect that the trouble was appendicitis, and so informed the physician. The doctor was called, and he, at all saying that none of the symptoms of that disease were present. As the boy continued to grow worse, another physician, one identified with one of the large sanitariums of the city, was consulted. As soon as he examined the patient, he pronounced the disease appendicitis, and declared that an operation was necessary at once; at the same time expressing the fear that the disease had made such progress that it was extremely doubtful if the boy could be effected. The operation was performed at the hospital as soon as possible thereafter. The young man survived the operation six days. He died on Saturday morning last. When it was evident that he could not recover, his father, Wales Palmer, was sent for, and was with the afflicted one during the last two days. The remains were brought to the Amador county home on Sunday, and the funeral took place on Wednesday, the body being laid to rest in the cemetery near Amador City. Deceased was 16 years of age, and a bright and fine appearing young man; the youngest of two children, both boys. The funeral was held at the home of the grandfather, John Palmer, who was away at a mine at a distant point in Kern county, to attend. Universal sympathy is extended to the stricken parents in their great sorrow.

The Why and Wherefore.

We are in receipt from one of the interested parties in the justices' and constables' salary matter of a type-written communication disputing the correctness of our report of the supervisors' proceedings as published last week on one or two minor points. The Ledger's columns are open to any party with a grievance of his own. In this instance the correspondent complains not for himself, but in behalf of another speaker or before the supervisors. We decline to publish his communication for this reason mainly. We are capable of judging the import of language as well as the average listener, and our report was in every particular substantially correct. Furthermore, those who have been having a row on this subject through the columns of the other three papers in the county, can hardly expect the Ledger to be thrown wide open to them also at this stage of the game. Our space is too limited to admit of that sort of monopoly.

MINING NOTES.

BUNKER HILL.—Grading operations for the 20-stamp mill are completed, and the construction work was started the middle of this week. The intention is to put the work to a complete end and get the mill running as soon as possible.

ARGONAUT.—The work of repairing the shaft preliminary to starting up of this property is expected to be started within the next few days. Large quantities of supplies in the shape of timbers and lumber are being received.

KENNEDY.—The new hoist was started Sunday for hoisting purpose. So far the old skips have been used, and as they are much lighter than the skips to be used with the more powerful machinery, the running has not been as smooth as otherwise. The new skips will be attached in a few days, when everything is expected to move along satisfactorily.

Phone us for ice cream for your Sunday dinner. We will deliver it on short notice. Penry & Moon.

Treatment of Bunions.

Bunions are serious and hard to treat. About the only thing to do is to wear seamless stockings and shoes with kid or fine calf uppers. Avoid heating the feet and change the shoes frequently. Any sweet oil will heal the soreness of a joint, and sometimes anointing it with iodine will bring relief. When a bunion gets troublesome the best plan is to buy a stick of eucalypt of copper, pare away the dead skin and cauterize the spot. The operation is a trifle painful, but it is only momentary, while the sense of relief that is sure to follow is like the "peace that passeth understanding."

"The High Seas."

By "the high seas" referred to in Article 1 of the constitution of the United States is meant the open sea—that is, the waters outside the civil jurisdiction of any country, whatever, which, according to the law of nations, is limited to one marine league, or three geographical miles, from the shore. Even the great lakes, beyond the limit designated above, are regarded as "high seas."
